In thieir order cited above, Government have sanctioned the deputation of Veterinary Assistant Surgeon, K. Govinda Sastri, to undergo at the Indian Veterinary Research Insititute, Izatnagar and at Mukteswar a course of training in the technique of the manufacture of sera, vaccines, etc., for a period of nine months from 16th July 1948 and have also stated that he will be allowed the travelling allowance admissible to him under the rules. He has joined the course on 20th July 1948. His present pay is Rs. 180 and under the rules, he is eligible to draw Inter Class fare for the journey by rail and if this class is not available in the route by which he travels, he is entitled to draw II class fare. He now represents that in view of the long distance of 1786 miles by the diverted route of the Grand Trunk Express and due to his disability of an artificial leg, he had to travel with his wife as escort by II class and requests that he may be permitted to draw II class fare. Inter class accommodation is available for the entire journey. A copy of his representation with the cash Railway receipt referred to therein is enclosed for the information of Government. The case deserves sympathetic consideration and I accordingly request Government to be pleased to permit Veterinary Assistant Surgeon to draw II Class fare for the journey for himself and his family and limit the extra fare he is entitled to in the Inter Class by the shortest route.

The extra cost involved on account of the drawal of II Class fare is Rs. 163/2/-.
